The Greater London 2009 Down the Line Grand Prix was held in conjunction with the Surrey County shoot at the National Clay Shooting Centre at Bisley. There were a total of 46 shooters 18 of which were from Greater London. The weather stayed dry and overcast with some sunny spells throughout the day but with a stiff breeze and some strong gusts, which made for some challenging targets.

The Grand Prix champion was Neil March who managed to hold onto his lead to beat runner up and top Veteran John Parry.

The ladies category was won by Karen Allen and Sophie Weller took the colts category, putting in another steady performance.
